

Tripti Gupta

Tripti Gupta is a resident of the Internal Medicine program at Ochsner Medical Center. She completed her undergraduate training in Biomedical Engineering from the University of Southern California, and her medical training from the University of Queensland-Ochsner Clinical School. She is intrigued by the complexity in medicine and enjoys researching ways in which to improve the patient experience.

Joseph Englert

Joseph Englert is currently employed as a non-invasive cardiologist at Ochsner Medical Center, where his focus is in general cardiology, echocardiography, and nuclear cardiology. He graduated from medical school at Louisiana State University in New Orleans in 2012. He completed a residency in internal medicine at the University of Alabama at Birmingham in 2015 followed by fellowship in cardiovascular disease at Ochsner Medical Center in New Orleans. He served as the chief fellow during his final year in 2018. He is an associate fellow of the American College of Cardiology and a member of the Imaging Society of Louisiana.

Sangeeta Shah

Sangeeta Shah, MD, FACC, FASE is Associate Professor of Medicine of the Ochsner Clinical School of Medicine- UQ, Co-Director, Adult Congenital Heart Program, and Director, Cardiovascular MRI at Ochsner Heart and Vascular Institute. She grew up in New Orleans, Louisiana and received her Medical Degree from LSU- Shreveport. She initially trained at Ochsner Medical Center for Internal Medicine and then trained at UT —Galveston, University of South Florida, Washington Hospital Center, and Georgetown University for cardiology and cardiology imaging and congenital subspecialties.