

Troy Kish, PharmD, BCPS

Troy Kish, PharmD, BCPS is an Associate Professor of Pharmacy Practice with the Long Island University College of Pharmacy. He completed his PGY-1 Pharmacy Practice residency at Kingsbrook Jewish Medical Center in Brooklyn, NY and his PGY-2 Infectious Diseases residency at the James J Peters Veterans Affairs Medical Center in the Bronx, NY where he continues to practice internal medicine.

Khusbu Patel, PharmD, BCACP, BCGP

Khusbu Patel, PharmD, BCACP, BCGP is an Assistant Clinical Professor in the Clinical Pharmacy Practice Department at St. John's University College of Pharmacy and Health Sciences. As part of her full time appointment at St. John's University, she serves as a clinical faculty member in the Columbia University residency program at the Center for Family and Community Medicine located in Washington Heights, New York. Dr. Patel received her Doctorate of Pharmacy degree from St. John's University and completed a post graduate specialty residency in geriatrics at James J. Peters Veterans Affairs hospital. She is a board certified ambulatory care pharmacist and certified geriatric pharmacist. Her interests include family medicine, chronic disease state management and population health.

Katherine Di Palo, PharmD, BCACP, BCGP

Katherine Di Palo, PharmD, BCACP, BCGP is a clinical pharmacy specialist and program director for the Heart Failure Hospital Readmissions Reduction Program at Montefiore Medical Center. She received her Doctorate of Pharmacy from the University at Buffalo and is board-certified in ambulatory care and geriatrics. Her research interests include clinical transformations, medication adherence and patient education.