

John R. Potts III, MD, graduated from medical school and completed residency in general surgery at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center. He practiced general surgery for 30 years. He served as the Program Director in Surgery at the University of Texas Houston Medical School for 21 years where he also served as the ACGME Designated Institutional Official and Assistant Dean for Graduate Medical Education. In 2012 he assumed his present position of Senior Vice President, Surgical Accreditation in the ACGME.