Vice Chair of Research

Rutgers, Robert Wood Johnson Medical School Department of Emergency Medicine

Rutgers is New Jersey's premiere public research university. With a $1 billion commitment to invest in, support and drive groundbreaking, advanced research, the recent Rutgers and RWJ Barnabas Health integrated academic health system aims to further the university's reputation as a leader in academic health care and biomedical research.

Rutgers currently is ranked among the nation's top 20 public universities for research and development expenditures. Rutgers Robert Wood Johnson Medical School is first in the state for research and has steadily attracted increased NIH funding and grants in excess of $1 million, as well as substantially expanded its clinical trials with the launch of a new, world-class adult clinical research center.

The Department of Emergency Medicine is seeking a Vice Chair of Research at the Associate Professor or Professor level, preferably tenure track. The Department's goal is to grow its research and scholarly output while building a nationally recognized research program. The Vice Chair will provide leadership and oversight of the research mission for the Department. Successful candidates will have a demonstrated track record of independently funded research, publication in high-impact, peer-reviewed journals, strong mentorship skills and clear evidence of promoting the academic careers of junior faculty. The Vice Chair must demonstrate expertise in leading research in EM and possess the interpersonal skills to engage, inspire and work across disciplines within a large, diverse organization.

Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and its principal teaching affiliate, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital, comprise New Jersey's premier academic medical center. A 580-bed, Level 1 Trauma Center and New Jersey's Level 2 Pediatric Trauma Center, Robert Wood Johnson University Hospital has an annual ED census in excess of 90,000 visits. The department has a well-established, three-year Emergency Medicine residency program and an Emergency Ultrasound fellowship.

Qualified candidates must be ABEM/ABOEM certified/eligible. Salary and benefits are competitive and commensurate with experience.

For consideration, please send a letter of intent and a curriculum vitae to:

DEPARTMENT OF EMERGENCY MEDICINE ASSISTANT PROFESSOR CLINICAL FACULTY APPOINTMENT

The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center, Department of Emergency Medicine is seeking a board-prepared or board-certified physician at the rank of assistant professor or higher to join our growing academic department in the world's largest medical center, located in Houston, Texas. The 44-bed emergency department has an annual census of nearly 27,000. This is an exceptional opportunity for emergency physicians to support the development of oncologic emergency medicine as a distinct sub-discipline. Responsibilities include providing patient care in oncologic emergencies as well as supervising and educating medical students, residents, and fellows.

ONCOLOGIC EMERGENCY MEDICINE FELLOWSHIP

The Oncologic Emergency Medicine fellowship provides 12 to 24 months of advanced training in the growing sub-discipline of oncologic emergency medicine. This one-year (with optional second-year) fellowship will offer an outstanding opportunity to highly qualified applicants who will contribute to this emerging sub-discipline. The program concentrates on cancer-related emergencies, pain and symptom management, and palliative aspects of emergency department cancer care beyond that provided in a classical emergency medicine residency. Upon completion, it is expected that the fellowship will provide a career track that is focused in clinical care and enable a physician to provide superior cancer care in both academic and community settings.

Application process: Eligible candidates should have completed an ACGME-accredited residency program in Emergency Medicine, although candidates with other training backgrounds will be considered on a case-by-case basis. Personal statement, curriculum vitae, and three letters of recommendation are required. Competitive candidates will be asked for medical school transcripts and invited for personal interviews.
