

Contents lists available at ScienceDirect

The Knee

2019 PRIZE WINNERS

The John Newman Prize for the Paper Published in 2018 with the highest number of downloads in the same year went to:

The effect of low-load exercise on joint pain, function, and activities of daily living in patients with knee osteoarthritis. Jason Peeler and Jacquie Ripat. [The Knee 25 (2018) 135–145]

The Malcolm Glasgow Prize for the most highly cited article contributing to the current (2017) Impact Factor went to:

A meta-analysis of bone-patellar tendon-bone autograft versus fourstrand hamstring tendon autograft for anterior cruciate ligament reconstruction. Xiaobo Xie, Xuzhou Liu, Zhongran Chen, Yingdian Yu, Sheng Peng and Qi Li. [The Knee 22 (2015) 100–110]