

Jamie Knell, MD, is a surgical research fellow at the Center for Advanced Intestinal Rehabilitation and Department of Surgery at Boston Children's Hospital. She completed medical school at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine and is currently a Resident in General Surgery at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts.

Sam M. Han, MD, is a surgical research fellow at the Center for Advanced Intestinal Rehabilitation and Department of Surgery at Boston Children's Hospital. He completed medical school at Texas A&M College of Medicine in College Station, Texas and is currently a Resident in General Surgery at Texas A&M College of Medicine in Temple, Texas.

Tom Jaksic, MD, PhD, is Vice-Chairman of Pediatric General Surgery at Boston Children's Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts. He received his medical degree from Queen's University and completed his general surgical and pediatric surgical residencies at The University of Toronto. He obtained his PhD at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and completed a nutritional support and critical care fellowship at the New England Deaconess Hospital. He is currently the Surgical Director of the Center for Advanced Intestinal Rehabilitation at Boston Children's Hospital and the W. Hardy Hendren Professor of Surgery at Harvard Medical School.

Biren P. Modi, MD, MPH, is an Associate in the Department of Pediatric General Surgery at Boston Children's Hospital in Boston, Massachusetts. He received his medical degree from Yale University School of Medicine and his Masters in Public Health from the Harvard School of Public Health. He completed general surgery residency at Brigham and Women's Hospital before completing pediatric surgery fellowship at Boston Children's Hospital. He is currently the Associate Surgical Director of the Center for Advanced Intestinal Rehabilitation at Boston Children's Hospital and Assistant Professor of Surgery at Harvard Medical School.