Directions for questions 1 and 2: Choose the single best response.

A 35-year-old patient presents to your clinic for the evaluation of new onset psoriasis that is not responding to topical corticosteroids. When the patient undergoes patient intake, your staff noticed that the patient's preferred name is John Doe and identifies as a man. The sex assigned at birth was female and the legal name is Jane Doe, which matched the name on the driver's license that was provided.

1. Which of the following is the MOST appropriate next step?
 - a. Refer the patient to psychiatry for gender dysphoria
 - b. Counsel on the higher risk of sexually transmitted disease acquisition and safer sex practices
 - c. Decline to see the patient because you cannot verify the patient's name
 - d. Address the patient as Ms Doe to avoid confusion with legal identification and billing
 - e. Ask the patient regarding pronouns for the clinical encounter

A 19-year-old woman presents to your clinic for the evaluation of a genital rash.

2. As part of your initial medical history, which of the following questions does NOT use inclusive language?
 - a. Are you currently sexually active?
 - b. Do you have sex with men, women, or both?
 - c. Have you ever had an HIV test? If yes, when was your last one?
 - d. When was your last sexual intercourse with your boyfriend?
 - e. Are you currently practicing any method of birth control?
