

Corrigendum to ‘Trends in Utilization of Surgical and Transcatheter Mitral Valve Repair in the United States☆’ [The American Journal of Cardiology 123/7 (2019) 1187-1189]

DOI of original article: <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.amjcard.2019.01.005>

The authors regret to inform that there was a typographical error in the published page proofs of the manuscript. The correct ICD-9 code utilized to identify patients undergoing surgical mitral valve repair (SMVr) was 35.12 and not 35.97 as published in the original proofs of the manuscript.

The authors would like to apologise for any inconvenience caused.
