Editorial

The scientific and the organizing committees of the 2019 European Days of the French Society of Cardiology, as well as the editorial board of the journal Archives of Cardiovascular Diseases, do apologize for the error in the publication of the abstracts of our scientific congress.

Indeed, for logistical and organizational reasons, a number of abstracts were not included in the supplement January 2019 issue, published online and distributed in paper format, devoted to the publication of the accepted abstracts.

We have therefore decided, thanks to our publisher Elsevier, to publish an addendum (“Part 2”) including all the abstracts not published in the issue initially distributed.

Thus, hopefully, the authors should not be penalized for this error, which is entirely due to us.

We do thank the contributors for their indulgence and renew our apologies, hoping that this error will not be prejudicial (for acknowledgments, citations, references. . .).
