The original publication of this article (Drummond and Carey 2018) contained a missing reference in the “Results” section, second paragraph (p. 382). The corrected text has been given below:

“The ‘ConnecTo’ spiritual screening instrument (Fletcher 2016) has been included in this review, even though it does not appear to have been published in a peer-reviewed journal, and does not appear to have a documented evidence base, but it has been included because it has been incorporated into the operations of an important and peak aged care corporation, ‘Meaningful Aging Australia’ (2017).”
