Acknowledgment to reviewers

Our thanks to 2018 reviewers

Each issue of Annals of Physical and Rehabilitation Medicine results from a collaboration between authors, reviewers, editors, and the publisher. Reviewers play a crucial role. They dedicate their time, great expertise, and thoughtful advice to help authors improve their papers, especially young physicians. Their dedication helps make this journal attractive, both for authors and for readers, as shown by an increasing number of citations and downloads of articles published in the Annals. These efforts were rewarded by a first impact factor obtained in 2018 (2017 impact factor).

More than 200 colleagues have refereed papers for the journal in 2018. They are listed below. We are extremely grateful to all for their efforts and efficient dedication and look forward to keeping this fruitful collaboration active in the future.

D. Pérennou (Editor in chief), G. Amarenco (associate editor, Neuro-urology), Pierre Denys (associate editor, Neuro-urology), P. Azouvi (associate editor, Neuropsychology), Helena Burger (associate editor, Orthotics and Amputees), J.M. Casillas (associate editor, Cardiovascular), E. Coudeyre (associate editor, Osteoarticular), S. Nadeau (associate editor, Neuromotricity), F. Rannou (associate editor, Osteoarticular), Marie Dekerle and Pascal Leger (publishing editors).

Reviewers are ranked by the number of reviews they performed for the journal in 2018 (from 26 to 1). Asterisks indicate those who reviewed 5 or more manuscripts.
