

Contents lists available at ScienceDirect

American Journal of Infection Control

journal homepage: www.ajicjournal.org

Message from APIC

Three Days of Real-World IPC Solutions and Innovation

Thousands of infection preventionists are gearing up to convene in Philadelphia, PA this June 12-14 for APIC's 46th Annual Conference. APIC 2019 is the largest gathering of IPC professionals in the world, providing an unparalleled opportunity to immerse yourself in real world solutions to infection prevention and control challenges you face every day.

APIC 2019 Features:

- 100+ educational sessions that provide practical solutions and innovative ideas for effective IPC no matter where you work
- Networking opportunities with 1000s of IPs from across the globe and the industry
- 16 contact hours to help maintain your important professional certifications
- Over 270 solution providers in the world's largest exhibit hall dedicated to the field of IPC
- 100+ peer-reviewed poster and oral abstract presentations providing cutting-edge research

Whether you need to build your foundational skills or are looking to improve your expertise on emerging issues, APIC 2019 provides pertinent educational sessions. Customize your schedule before you go with the Program Planner. And make the most of your travel by joining us a day early for one of our pre-conference workshops:

- CIC® Certification Preparatory Course
- Survey Readiness Workshop
- Consulting 101: How to Get Started Now

While you learn from the experts and discover emerging issues, you can also experience some of the latest tools and technology, in the largest exhibit hall dedicated to infection prevention. Take part in hands-on demonstrations and participate in in-booth learning.

Leave Philadelphia with new professional relationships. From the welcome reception to the closing plenary, APIC 2019 offers unsurpassed opportunities to network with healthcare professionals from across the U.S. and around the world.

Register before April 24, 2019 to take advantage of the early bird rate ($655 for APIC members)! Group registration discounts are also available for groups of four or more. Register online at apic.org/APIC2019.

Join us in Philadelphia and help advance our vision of healthcare without infection. See you there!